Presents MOVIE NIGHT
Featuring:
The Savages
(2007)

Friday, January 25, 2013, 7-10 PM

THE COMMUNITY CHURCH OF NEW YORK
John H. Holmes Community House
Gallery Room; 28 East 35th Street

Free admission for Met Chapter student and recent graduate members $10 for everyone else

Wendy (Laura Linney) and Jon (Philip Seymour Hoffman) are adult siblings who have a distant relationship and haven't been successful in their own lives with intimate relationships. When their father, Lenny (Philip Bosco), from whom they've been estranged for years because of his emotionally abusive behavior, is becoming demented, they come together to make arrangements to care for him and their renewed bond helps them grow emotionally. Join us (popcorn and beverages served) for the movie and discussion afterward.

Joyce Edward, MSSA, BCD, a retired psychoanalyst, will facilitate the discussion. She has served as a faculty member and training analyst at the New York School for Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis and has taught at the Adelphi, Hunter College, and Smith College schools of social work. Her publications include Separation Individuation: Theory and Application, coauthored with Nathene Ruskin and Patsy Turrini; Fostering Healing and Growth: A Psychoanalytic Social Work Approach, coedited with Jean Sanville; and The Social Work Psychoanalyst's Casebook: Clinical Voices in Honor of Jean Sanville, coedited with Elaine Rose. Her most recent publication is The Sibling Relationship: A Force for Growth and Conflict.
